Katie just came home from cheer practice and has a chemistry test tomorrow that she needs to study for

She hasn't been paying a lot of attention in class, but needs to do well to keep her gpa up

So she downloads our app and begins looking for study buddies in her chemistry class

She finds some other students and they meet in the library and start studying. They get along really well and Katie now feels very prepared for her exam

Katie ended up acing her exam
and she was so

Not only did she find a way to study and do well in class, but she also found new friends to hang out with Rob Banks is tired. He has been so busy solving math problems that he has had no time to go out. However he wants to make friends on campus.

Rob is walking around on campus when he overhears two people chatting about the app to make friends with people on campus.

Rob downloads the app. Using the location feature he finds someone with similar interests.

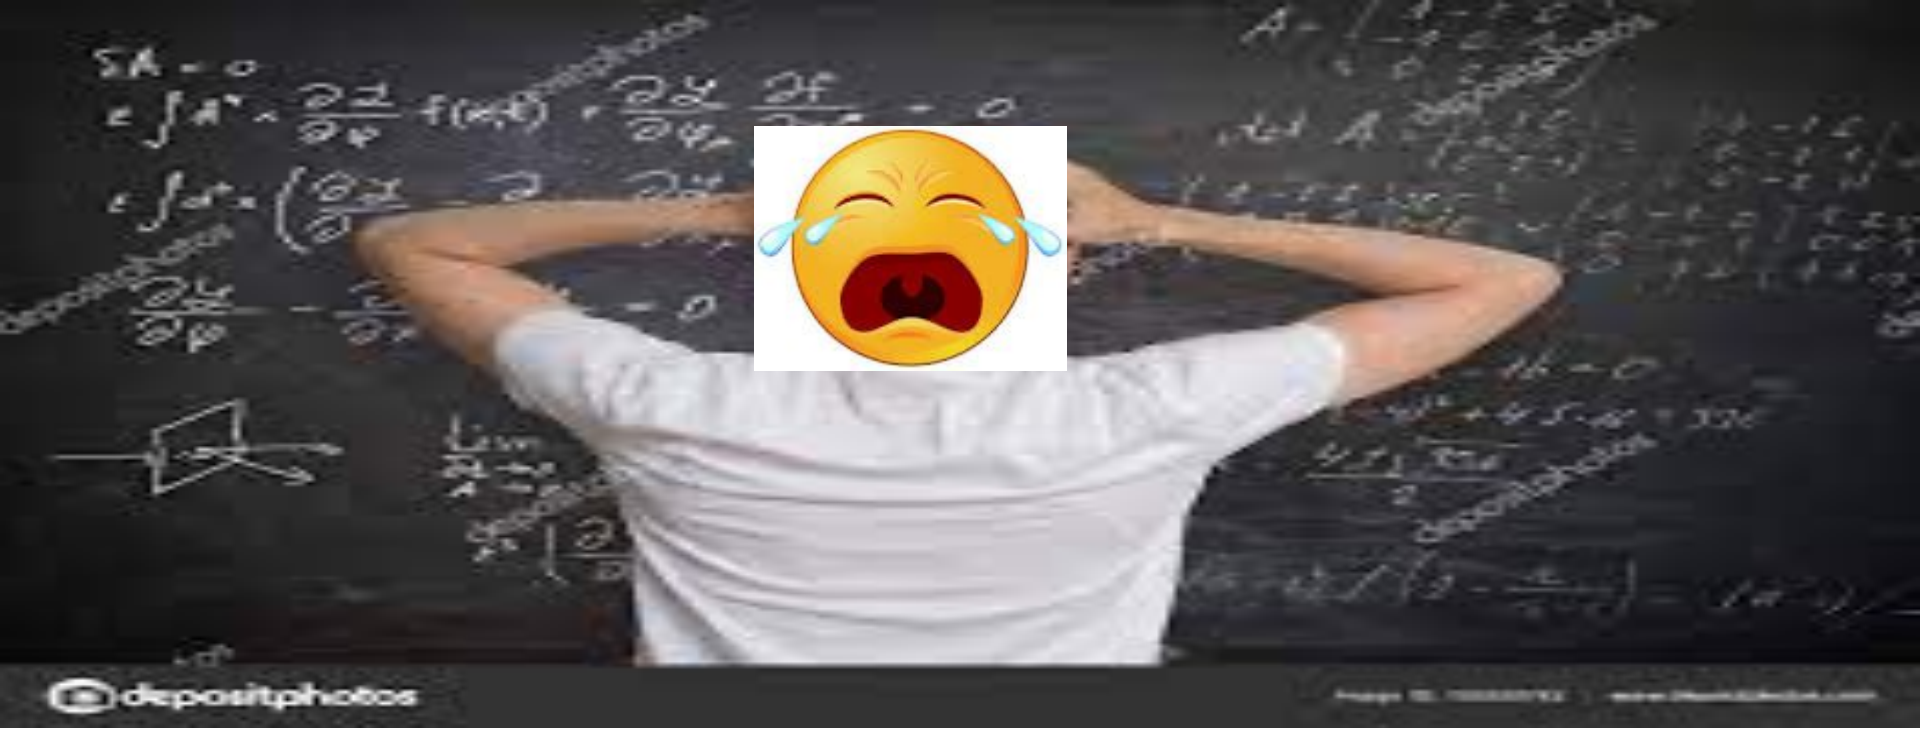

Using the built-in messaging feature, Rob and the person he met go meet in a lecture hall and discuss their favorite hobbies.

Rob and his new friend now have someone to talk about things they both enjoy!

Rob finds even more people with similar interests and creates a group in the app. He is happy that he has many people to hang out with now!

Professor Book is feeling burnt out from working too much. He wants to go have fun with friends, but he doesn't have any.

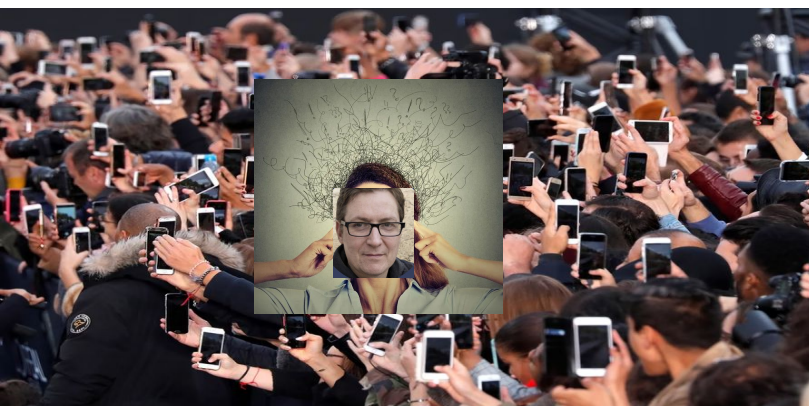

He decides to check the internet when he gets home, and he finds out about APP.

He uses the app to type in information about himself and his location.

He finds several people in his area, and the app even notifies him about a physics event coming up.

He creates a group on the app and makes it public so that other people who are interested can join.

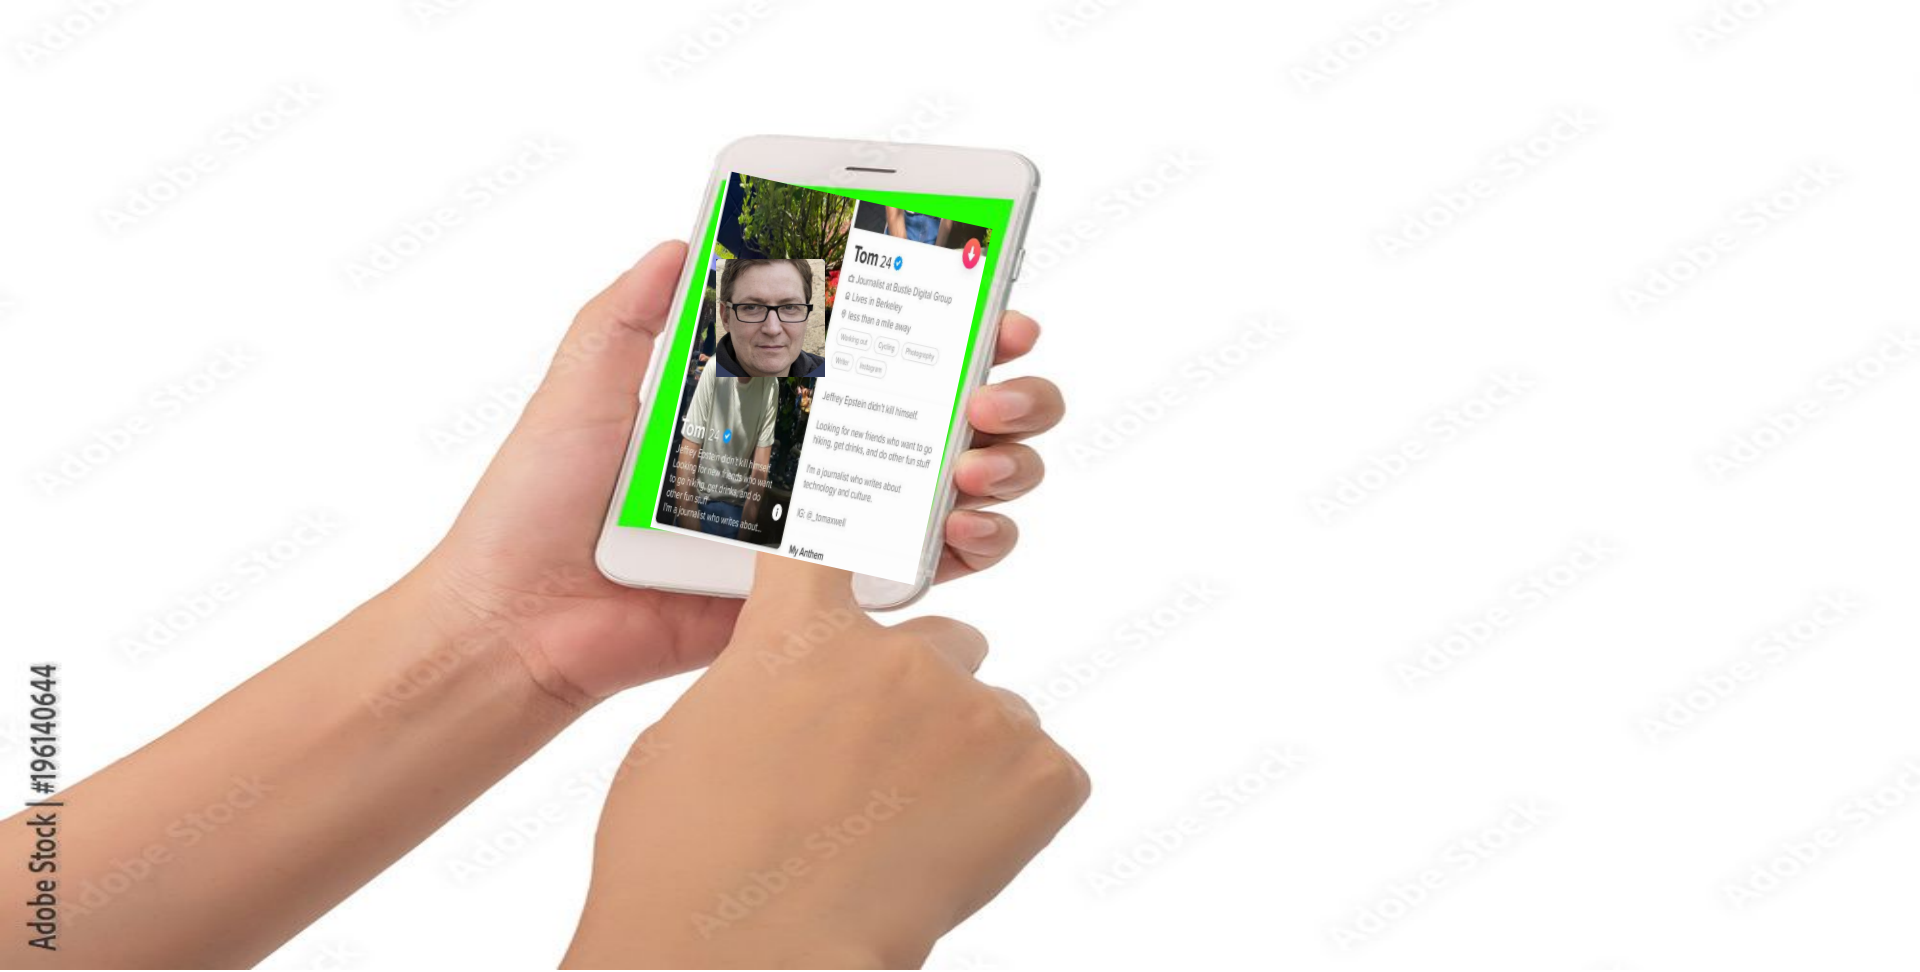

They all go to the physics fair and John makes a lot of friends.

← His Friends

Adam Bracket spends most of his days standing in front of a mirrors practicing his lines. He thinks to himself that he will never get it down perfect if he doesn't have someone to help him. All his friends are busy. :<

Adam's friend William(Billy) Bob Joe III of Ireland is upset that he can't be there for his friend Adam. He finds a new app that allows you to put in your schedule and find people to study with, or in Adam's case, listen to him rehearse his lines.

Billy races to tell Adam the great news. But he gets pulled over by a cop. He tells the cop about the app he found, and immediately gets a police escort to Adam.

Adam is shocked by Billy's arrival, but not as shocked as when he hears about the new app Billy has found.

Adam immediately downloads the app, and puts in his class schedule and study availability. He finds out that there is a group on campus that get together every week to practice their lines and give feedback.

Adam has found his people. He calls up Billy to thank him, and found out Billy was arrested for money laundering and tax fraud. At least Adam is happy.
